

Milton Schalois

Business

Milton “Milt” Schalois graduated from Collinwood High School in 1949. During his years at Collinwood he was class treasurer, lettered in track, and was the president of the “Angels” Hi-Y Club.

He attended Baldwin Wallace College with a dual major in Business Administration and General Science. Milt was also an active participant in extra-curricular activities.

Milton graduated from Baldwin Wallace in 1954 and took a job with Aetna Casualty Company as a loss control engineer. He quickly moved up the ladder and in 1960 he was promoted to manager of loss control in Toledo. In 1963 he moved to Aetna’s home office in Hartford, Connecticut.

In 1970, Milt took on the position of Assistant Vice-President for Central Mutual Insurance Company in Van Wert, Ohio, for which he organized and developed a Loss Control and Premium Audit Department.

In 1981 he moved on to American Mutual Insurance Company of Boston and took on the position of Vice President of loss control and premium audit and the task of upgrading and reorganizing the two departments.

In 1982 Milt was appointed to the Business Research & Advisory Council by the US Secretary of Labor. He also was on the board of directors for the Loss Control Committee of the Alliance of American Insurers in Chicago, and the board for Premium Audit Division of the American Insurance Association in New York.
